My pictures of the waterfalls to myself mean a lot of things. I believe waterfalls have different meanings. When I see a waterfall, the words that come to my mind are: soothing, relaxing, peace, tranquility, and nurturing. My personal opinion of the park pictures were fantastic. This picture is important to me because it was taken off-guard; an everyday life at the park in Downtown, Hartford. I took these pictures to show a different side of Hartford. Many people are used to seeing either a suburban area or a more "ghetto" area. This shows a different side.
